

With roots dating back to 1967, Quirch Foods is a business on a quest for the best foods available.

Established as a distributor and exporter of meats and seafood in South Florida and the Caribbean, Quirch Foods has become one of the largest suppliers of fresh and frozen foods in the United States and across the Americas and is ranked among the top 50 exporters in the US.

A Certified Minority Business, Quirch has also established itself as one of the largest importers of seafood of its trade. Its customer base includes independent grocers, chain supermarkets, foodservice distributors, cruise lines, restaurants and food processors/ manufacturers. With over 8,000 SKU's, the company has one of the most varied and extensive product lists of any distributors of its type and size.

The company is headquartered in Miami, with additional offices and distribution facilities in Orlando, Atlanta, Puerto Rico and now Chicago.

Taking action for a brighter future.

A sustainable and high quality supply is the cornerstone of Quirch Foods procurement policy. We also acknowledge the growing need for a diversified procurement program, which screens products for sustainability by our Quality Assurance team. This is the reason why we have established a purchasing policy geared towards sourcing products from responsible producers and farming operations. We purchase our products from suppliers and farms managed in a responsible manner and rely on competent national authorities that employ science-based management approaches to ensuring sustainable harvests.

Quality Assurance

Quality Assurance Team has over 50 years combined experience in food safety and compliance, quality and social responsibility.

Quality Assurance, Compliance & H.A.C.C.P. Certifications

Our program consist of:

- HACCP based Food Safety Controls.
- In bound product inspection.
- Yearly third party audit for safe food handling based on stringent International guidelines as recognized by GFSI (Global Food Safety Initiative).
- SQF Certified at Level 2 on all 5 Distribution Centers.
- On-site inspections by USDA and USDC.
- Traceability (One up / One down) every case.
- All Imported products and domestic shipments are required to have electronic Supply Chain Temperature monitoring devices.

Supplier Inspections

Our QA Management Personnel performs on-site inspections and food safety audits of our overseas suppliers yearly. We inspect facilities all over Asia and the Americas and assist these suppliers in bringing their operations into compliance with HACCP and other recognized food safety management programs to include compliance to the Food Safety Modernization Act.

The cost is significant but this is a sound investment for us to ensure that the products we procure are safe and wholesome.

At Quirch Foods, we are committed to providing Safe Quality Foods to our customers. We maintain multiple food safety and quality assurance programs. This is secured with a dedicated, trained, Food Safety Quality development team, committed to assuring all regulations and customer requirements are met.
